BECOME AN ANNIVERSARY PATRON

In 2016, the RSNO will reach the grand age of 125. Formed in 1891 as the Scottish Orchestra, the now Royal Scottish National Orchestra has an illustrious history and exceptionally rich musical heritage.

For over 125 years many outstanding conductors and soloists have worked with our musicians including Sir John Barbirolli, Dame Janet Baker, Yehudi Menuhin, Luciano Pavarotti and more recently, Valery Gergiev and Scotland's own Nicola Benedetti.

The coming years are a time of great change for your Orchestra. Not only will the musicians, RSNO Chorus and Junior Chorus move into a purpose built new home, but the Orchestra will be approaching a truly significant 125th Anniversary milestone. Our new ambitions for this next era in RSNO history will reflect and draw on our heritage. It is crucial that we preserve the extensive archive, ensuring that this cherished collection can inspire future generations of musicians and music lovers.

You can play a vital role in our celebrations by becoming an Anniversary Patron. A gift from you can help us make this an exceptional 125th Anniversary.

The first concert in the Orchestra's history was Handel's Messiah and we look forward to presenting you with an exciting choice of repertoire for the 125th Season.

Many significant works have been written since 1891 such as Strauss' Ein Heldenleben completed in 1898, Mahler's Symphony No5 was finished in 1902, Stravinsky's The Rite of Spring made its debut in 1913 and music by Prokofiev, well, he was born in 1891!

It takes time to plan any significant celebration and this anniversary is no exception – it starts now! We have lots of exciting ideas and your gift could help us undertake many wonderful projects.

By becoming an Anniversary Patron your donation could help us to:
